New York Times (June 23, 1940) Einstein Predicts an Armed League synonymous with the word "genius". Indeed, a simple Google image search for the word "genius" yields nothing but mugshots of his fiendish face. This artificial exaltation of the slovenly sockless slob -- who the great Serbian-American scientist / inventor Nikola Tesla referred to (in a private letter) as "a long-haired crank" -- ranks right up there with the Holohoax and the 9/11 scams as the most elaborate con jobs of all time.

Even if, purely for the sake of argument, we were to accept Einstein's stolen "Theory of Relativity"™ as mathematical proof that space is "curved" (rolling eyes), time can be "dilated" (rolling eyes), and nothing can ever exceed the speed of light (says who?), the fact remains that none of Einstein's "discoveries" ever held any practical application. So then, why is he so endlessly hero-worshipped whereas his far more accomplished contemporaries -- great men whose work has improved and even saved countless lives -- such as Roentgen (X-Rays), Tesla (commercial electricity and so much more), Marconi (wireless technology), Fleming (anti-biotic), Carrier (father of refrigeration & air conditioning), Von Braun (rocket science) and so many others remain unknown in the popular culture? Need we even answer that rhetorical question for you?

While randomly browsing through the historical pdf archives of the New York Slimes -- a service made possible by the generous support of our readers (hint-hint) -- the cosmic hand of fate dropped us on a very interesting 1940 puff-piece about this wretched monster who had fled "Nazi" Germany (because of his Communist affiliations) and was in the process of becoming an "American." Let's analyze what this dyed-in-the-wool One Worlorder had to say.

Tesla the Great had that Jewish ass-clown and his "relativity" nonsense all figured out.

Times, 1940: Professor Albert Einstein advocated a world-wide federation of nations with "control over the whole military power of its members" soon after he had taken his final examination for American citizenship here today. He predicted the recreation of Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations "in a more powerful form."

Rebuttal: Why did this piece of filth even bother to take an American citizenship exam if his wished to see America (and all nations) ended and rolled up into a "federation of nations" stripped of all individual self-defense and subject to a "powerful" world government?

Times, 1940: The author of the theory of relativity asserted that "a Federal organization of Rebuttal: Sounds exactly like the Global Warming / Climate Change hoax of today, doesn't it? You see, in order to "save the planet," we need a New World Order. Get it?

Times, 1940: From Princeton, where he is a Professor of Mathematics, ...

Rebuttal: You see, he was only a college math teacher -- not an experimental scientist.

1. Math equations are only the language of science --- not the science in and of itself. 2. Tesla the Great warned about the growing use of "dazzling math" to obfuscate truth.

Times, 1940: Professor Einstein came to Trenton accompanied by his daughter, Margot ... both seeking citizenship.

Rebuttal: Einstein didn't believe in nations, so why even bother? He once said:
"I am by heritage a Jew, by citizenship a Swiss, and by makeup a human being, and only a human being, without any special attachment to any state or national entity whatsoever."

Times, 1940: The white-haired German emigre ...

Rebuttal: "German" my ass! (cough cough)

Times, 1940: talked affably with newspaper men as he entered the courthouse.

Rebuttal: The newspapermen of the day followed ugly Albert about like puppy dogs, and the egomaniac who H.L. Mencken once referred to as a "fiend for publicity" loved every moment of it.

Times, 1940: In his interview with Mr. Dimock, Professor Einstein said:

"Several years ago, when asked why I had given up my position in Germany, I made this statement: "As long as I have any choice, I will only stay in a country where political liberty, toleration and equality of all citizens before the law is the rule."

Rebuttal: Oh, cut the crap, Albert! You left Germany because the new Boss wasn't going to put up with your Marxist bullshit anymore. That, plus the fact that so many of Germany's great men of science openly scoffed at your crackpot theory, is what prompted you to come to America and maintain your "rock star" status.

Einstein mania ended in the Great One's Germany. It reignited 10-fold upon his arrival to Jewish-run America. Reporters swarmed the "genius" wherever he went, and the fame-addicted fraud loved every moment of it.

totalitarian system."

Rebuttal: If you were so put off by "totalitarian systems," St. Albert, then why did you refuse to sign a 1934 petition condemning the very "totalitarian" Stalin's mass killings and imprisonments? In refusing to sign, you wrote: "The Russians have proved that their only aim is really the improvement of the lot of the Russian people."

Times, 1940 (quoting Einstein): "Among the outstanding statesmen, Woodrow Wilson is perhaps the truest example of the intellectual type. ..."

Rebuttal: The man that King Jew Bernard Baruch and others blackmailed into prolonging a nearly-ended war, and getting 125,000 of his countrymen killed for Globalism and Zionism, is, in the twisted view of the great "genius" and "pacifist," an "outstanding statesman" and "intellectual." (palm to face, shaking head, sighing).

Times, 1940 (quoting Einstein): "His greatest achievement, the League of Nations, appears today a failure on superficial observation. But in spite of the mutilation by his contemporaries and the boycott of his fellow countrymen."

Rebuttal: Ah yes. Those stupid "isolationists" who "mutilated" the "great achievement" of Woodrow Wilson Warmonger. Albert, your politics is as screwed up as your fake science --- but then again, you already know that, dontcha?

Times, 1940 (quoting Einstein): "Wilson's work will be created, in my opinion, in a more powerful form. Then only will the importance of this great innovator be fully recognized. A worldwide organization cannot insure peace effectively unless it has control over the entire military power of its members."

Rebuttal: All military power concentrated in a single global entity???! That sure sounds a lot like "totalitarian system" you fear so much -- eh, Professor?

Let us hope that when the "Great Awakening" goes mainstream, this "long-haired crank" will be knocked off of his lofty historical perch. He only became a "legend" due to Marxist politics, and his (((ethnicity))).

Boobus Americanus 1: Did you watch that mini-series about Einstein on National Geographic?

Boobus Americanus 2: Yes. It was well done. The name of Einstein remains synonymous with genius itself.

St. Sugar: Hey Boobusss! Your pea brain is as curved as Einsstein'ss imaginary universe!

Editor: And it's got "black holes" too, from which the light of reason cannot emanate.
